Right of the Children's Guardians to Transfer Care of Wards.

Attorney Davall's Opinion on the Duty of the Police Court Under the Law-The Commissioners Complete Conferences on Appropriation Bill -A Permit Issued for Experiments.

Andrew B. Duvall, the Attorney for the District, yesterday submitted to the Commissioners his opinion upon the communiction received by them some days ago from the Board of Children's Guardians. The letter to the Commissioners asked that the opinion of the Attorney should be obtained upon the question of the au-thority of the Board of Guardians to divest itself of certain of its wards. Mr. Duvall submits the following statement of the facts in the case:

"It appears that several years ago the Police Court, under the act of Congress approved July 26, 1892, establishing the Board of Guardians, committed to it the guardianship of three children. Recently the board, being satisfied that it would be for the welfare of the children to transfer them to the care of other parties, made application to the Police Court to have the commitment set aside. In .eply the board is informed that the Police Court holds that it is without power to set aside the commitment after the term of court at which the same was made."

The Attorney states his opinion that the application of the board could not have been presented to the Police Court as fully as it might have been. "While it may be true," he says, "that the court has no power to alter its judgments after the expiration of the term, yet the act of the court in committing these children to the Board of Children's Guardians was abandoned and destitute should become en-titled by bequest to a large fortune, and thus be enabled to secure the largest endowment of education, so as to fit it for the position in life, it would be en-titled to occupy by reason of its wealth. Can it be possible that under such circum-stances the guardianship of the child must continue with the restricted advantages. continue with the restricted advantages incident to its commitment to the Board of Guardians? Or, suppose that after the order of commitment to the board, it is ascertained that the child is not abandonset or destitute. Can it be possible that the order of commitment must stand, and the child be deprived of parental care, be-cause the term of the court has expired? "In the very nature of its subject matter, the duty which the state is seeking to perform through the 're rumentallity of the court, is a continuing one, and the exhausted when its authority is first

"I am of the opinion that upon a satisfactory showing to be the Police Court has power and authority to vacate its order committing a child to the Board of Chil-dren's Guardians, regardless of the fact that the term of the court may have passed, and after having so vacated its order, the court may make such other order in the premises as the case may require, within the provisions of the law, or the court may make no further order in respect to the child. The effect of simply vacating the order of commitment, in my opinion would be to leave the control of the child

"The board may not wholly transfer its authority over its wards to other parties because the act of Congress, of July 26, 1892, contemplates that the board shall continuously exercise visitorial and supervising powers over such children."

John F. Donohoe, of 398 East Capitol Street, has again appealed to the Commissioners to be released from the payment for curbing on Second and K Streets southeast. Mr. Donohoe's request is based upon the claim that protests were made against the laying of the curb by property owners and that it was done without the consent of the required number of property owners.

In reporting upon the matter, C. B. Hunt, the Commissioners that his former statement that no objections were received at the public hearing in connec-tion with this assessment work was an error and that objections were received substantially as Mr. Donehoe states. He also informs the Commissioners that they were considered, and the work was or-dered after such consideration and in spite of the objections.

Mr. Hunt tells the Commissioners that he regrets the oversight which led him into an error of statement, which, he says, was due to the examination of the wrong file. Mr. Hunt then states, as formerly, that he knows of no way in which the property can be relieved from the assessment, which has been made regularly and properly, and he recommends that the cold. nds that the applicant be so informed. This recommendation the Engineer Commissioner has approved, and it is understood that the motion will be approved by the board.

C. B. F. mingway, of 26 I Street north-east, recently made application to the in-spector of Buildings for a permit to erect a small steam boiler and engine in the back yard of his premises, and was re-ferred to the Commissioners for a settle-ment of the question. Mr. Hemingway has submitted a statement to the board to the effect that he wishes to erect the engine and boiler with a view to making certain scientific experiments, and that tis use will be temporary.

The Inspector of Buildings in reporting upon the matter says that the location of the boiler and engine as proposed would be in the nature of a nulsance to the adjoining property holders. Consequently, he recommends that the applicant be informed that the permit cannot be granted without the consent of adjacent property holders as contemplated in the building regulations. regulations.

This recommendation has been approved by the Engineer Commissioner, and it is understood that his action will receive the concurrence of the board.

More than the usual amount of interest attaches to the application of William T. Otis, who asks the District government for a permit to crect a shed in square 545, lot 11, and known as 1232 Four-and-a-Haif Street southwest. Not wishing to decide the question involved, John B. Brady, the Inspector of Buildings, reported the mat-ter to the Commissioners with the fol-

Here we have the state represented in this jurisdiction b; Congress as parens patriae, exercising those paternal powers necessary to the public welfare to respect to the right and duty of caring for destitute and abandoned children. This plainly is a mere administrative function, which, for purposes of convenience, Congress has entrusted to the Police Court and the Criminal Court.

The Commissioners spent the day at the Capitel resterday in conference with the Appropriations in consideration of the District bill. The conference of the com-mittee with the Commissioners closed yesterday, the bill having been completed in the space of two and one-half days. It is stated that there was very little to be said on most of the items of the bill, and that it was finished in much less time than ever before. The Commissioners had so well digested their estimates that very little time was required to make them plain to the committee. Miss Clara L. Bishop, of 1325 New Hampshire Avenue northwest, recently wrote to the Commissioners complaining of the location of an unused lighting pole in the alley in the square bounded by New Hampshire Avenue, Nine-teenth, N and P Streets. She states that the pole was put up in the night five or six years ago, and that no wires have ever been attached to it. On account of the narrowness of the alley Miss Bishop says that the pole is the cause of more cruelty as it was before the board intervened in its behalf.

"Answering, therefore, the specific where it cannot be seen upon entering the of the Board of Children's Guardians, I the wheel of the cart or wagon to be have the honor to say, in my op'nion, that:

The Commissioners have approved the recommendation of Thomas J. Fisher, in-spector of Electric Lighting to erect sev-en street lamps in Largdon, D. C., as follows: One at the corner of Queen's Chapel Road and Frankfort Street, one on the east side of Twenty-second Street between Frankfort and Emporia streets, one on the north side of Frankfort Street, between Twenty-second and Twentyfourth street, one on the northeast cor-ner of Queen's Chapel Road and Detroit Street, one on the south side of Cincin nati Street between Twenty-second and section of Twenty-fourth Street and Mills Avenue, and one on the north side of De-troit Street, between Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth streets.

Walter C. Allen, the Electrical Engineer, in passing upon the request, stated that the United States Electric Lighting ompany has been requested to remove the pole, and be asked that Miss Bishop might be informed accordingly. This recom-mendation the Commissioners have ap-
